 entering the lee the 42 also heard voices 30 to 100m V and took the indivs under fire - estimate there were 2 to 4 indivs. They exited V. In searching the area they ft 1 spider hole about 100m out the side of the complex. There were 2 trails in the area - one was S-S, N-S. The S-S trail had a bridge over a stream - it was destroyed. In checking the hole they ft 1 drinking cup, 2 canteens (plastic), 1 safety fuse and casing for 60MM mortar, 1 can 60MM fuses, 1 network (very poor condition), 1 mine box, three 2.75MM rocket launchers (US type), bulging bags, 1 khaki shirt. Estimated the complex was for a 100m element.

Estimated length of op is 4 days. There are many advantages to having MI teams with the command element. Most important is the speed with which a village can be captured and searched.
If air assets are unavailable they will continue search and search of planned villages taking the carefully maintained ~~list~~ suspects with the continuing

One 2/s man will accompany his class 2/s on the first visit if by abseiler or on rope. If by air the other 2/s man will remain on the 2/s and at the turbine and see that everything gets out. Should birds get pulled or the 2/s man accompanying the 2/s man get wounded in and have to stay out with the class, then the second will be at the turbine for subsequent 2/s work the next day. The 2/s man accompanying his class 2/s will lead away the selected 2/s.
Selected 2/s will be considered first priority from now on, unless I direct otherwise, or unless the class CO personally requests from me a different priority. As I do not see the man priority as selected 2/s. 1st 2/s team will be made of white, painted a specific color for each class.
1st for 1st, grey for 2nd, blue for 3rd, green for 4th, yellow for 5th, black for be need to tag the 2/s bags, boxes, supply etc.

Designated for a specific class the supply code itself will be generated by 2/s as soon as he can get the tags made and the paint gotten.
