45	ccnt			by 1 s and LRP team: The mission fo that plt was to ready and develop a contact made by LRP's that afternoon. The LRP's 3G remained on Sugar Leaf as relay station as 2nd plt commanded by LT. Jacobs moved out and cordoned village of Plei Bak (1) on morning of 14 Sep, after completion of cordon and search, 2nd plt with relay station moved south east searching all draws and streams wic Sugar Leaf mountains. Contact was made on 15 Sep by LRP who swept and attained LKS on 16 Sep. 2nd plt made contact and A(-) was inserted to reinforce 2nd plt. Lesson learned: the night C/A of this plt proved that this Bde possesses a night reaction capability. Problems encountered, however, were maintaining control of maneuver elements once they are on the ground and a lack of training in the use of glide pathindicator equip This particular night the operation was simplified by securing the LZ with a reinforced s ua d prior to the commitment of larger elements. Problem areas, during the wet season in the Central Highlands night airlift operations are hindered to poor visibility and rain. During dry season it is recommended that night airlifts be conducted to the fullest extent possible. The technique of using night airlifts will limit the pos s NVA/VC spotting the exact location of insertion and will increase the security of troops being employed. Use of false LZ
