The following is from the journal Ralph Leebert kept during his tour. Ralph was the squad sergeant for 3rd squad, 2nd platoon, B Co., 1st Bn, 35th Inf., 4th Inf. Div. 1968-69.

Delta Company moved out by convoy today for Polei Kleng and we moved to the same location by Chinook. Upon arrival at Polei Kleng the airstrip was mortared and hit with rockets. For us, all we could do is head for the nearest hole. After it was over, we moved to the west end of the runway to set up.

The second platoon had a different mission. We were to move out with three tanks and two personnel carriers for a night location as a platoon outpost. Upon reaching the hill we started digging in and putting on overhead cover. A report came in that the Special Forces Camp was to be hit by a human wave attack. So we were on a hill to view the valley running north south, the supposed routes of attack.

Armor is also suspected in the attack. These may be the same ones used against Ben Het. Therefore, we have a good vantagepoint. We continued work way into the night. Although it is getting late, nothing has materialized yet.

The following is from the journal Ralph Leebert kept during his tour. Ralph was the squad sergeant for 3rd squad, 2nd platoon, B Co., 1st Bn, 35th Inf., 4th Inf. Div. 1968-69.

Thursday, March 6, 1969

Last night we finally finished the bunker close to eleven o'clock. By the time I settled down it was approaching twelve. Because double guard was required, it appeared as though I just went sleep and 4:15 came.

The day started good. We were to remain on the hill. Then some army personnel carriers (2/A/2/8) arrived and we were told that we were going with them to check out a bunker complex that the 2/8th had discovered. They also had a little trouble with some dinks. We move out toward our objective, which took approximately twenty minutes to reach. The complex started at a wood line at the upper portion of a hill. We got off the carriers and walked on the flanks of the two tracks. The APCs used recon-by-fire with the 50 caliber various times while we moved through the wood line. After going about two hundred meters or so an APC threw a track. Naturally, we sat down to rest and set up security.

We had not stopped too long when a round was fired from a 16. At first everybody did not know just what to make of it. Then a small lull passed before everything started flying. Fifty calibers from the APCs fired, M-60s fired, M-16s. Yet, surprised as I was, return fire was given. Not just AKs, but dinks had their own automatic weapons.

The firefight started when PFC Stanley Rice shot a dink carrying a B-40 rocket launcher. He thought it was a tube for mortars, but I told him that a dink would not walk in the jungle with a tube knowing GIs were around. Nevertheless, with APCs present, I said that the tube was probably a B-40 rocket launcher.

The firefight lasted at least three hours, possibly four. The APCs with the 50 calibers definitely put out fire support, plus we had six M-60 machine guns. We put the max on them. We killed seven (1/35th Daily Journals listed 14 enemy KIA) with an unknown number wounded that got away. Also, in this was the dead carried away. We captured 2 AK-47 rifles (Russian), 3 B-40 launchers, 7 B-40 rockets, 6 mortar rounds, AK-47 rounds, hand grenades and machine gun ammo.

During the fight our platoon leader Lieutenant Mayne was wounded and Lamar Bond took shrapnel in his left arm and leg. He was on the other side of the road (made by the APCs) when the fighting broke out. Just as with Lee Ayers when he was hit (ref 2/14/69 contact), Lamar called for me to come and get him. I assured him that we would be there just as soon as possible, but to remain calm and relax, we were getting things under control. The people hurt during the fight totaled seven. A couple were hit bad but did not appear critical at the time. Lieutenant Mayne, as mentioned, was hit three or four times, Lamar Bond and PFC Poss, who took a round in the foot. I cannot identify the others. Leaving the area felt great. But a platoon from Alpha 1/14th (1/A/1-14) came in to go past the point of contact to secure a tank that had hit a mine.

Meanwhile, during this time the rest of the company was CAd to LZ Mary. It isnt far from the Cambodian border and sits on the mouth of a valley leading from Cambodia. After leaving we almost had to return as Alpha 1/14 came in contact but nothing materialized, so we headed for Polei Kleng. We set up for the night and tried to relax and forget about the day's activities.

At 1450 hours S-4 reported that a truck of the convoy enroute to LZ Bass hit a mine, there were casualties reported with the exception of the driver who was Dusted-Off, the mine left a crater that was 3 feet wide and 5 feet deep. At 1240 hours B Company reported finding a tree that was 80 inches in diameter, 5 feet up there was a blaze, they also found a bridge and a road in the same area grid 757910, the road was well graded and it could accommodate a ton vehicle, all movement on the road was toward the west and there were no indications of recent use. At 1100 hours B Company reports finding a bunker complex 759915 consisted of 20 bunkers able to fit 2-3 people in each bunker, found cookers and the bunkers were well hidden from aerial viewing.

0855 hours (C) The S-3 air informed us that a vehicle on the convoy from LZ Bass to LZ Mary Lou hit a mine to the east of Polei Kleng none of our elements were involved, one man from another element was Dusted Off.

0920 hours (C) B Co is in the general vicinity of grid 763913 found a bunker complex with kitchen facilities more information will follow after they check it out thoroughly.

0922 hours (C) D Co reports that by 1000 hours they will have a one ship LZ by 1130-1200 hours they will have a 2 ship LZ.

0925 hours (C) B Co says that the first bridge that he found was logs and sticks partly under the water and he did not blow it up, the second bridge was an excellent bridge and it was blown up by them, they also found a third bridge at grid 761912 after completing the search of the bunkers he will blow the bridge when they are ready to leave that location.

1100 hours (C) B Co reports that the bunker complex in the vicinity of grid 759915 consisted of 20 bunkers 5 x 3 big enough for 2-3 personnel also 2 of the bunkers had kitchens with 2 cookers the bunkers are very close to the water and they are very well camouflaged from aerial view, no recent occupancy, the bunkers were torn down and they were searched thoroughly negative findings.

1130 hours (C) B Co CO reports that he has to hold for a while due to his 3d platoon has lost two of their men who were walking flank security, they will keep us informed.

1159 hours (C) B Co says that they found the two men on their flank that they lost, they will be moving out at approximately 1300 hours.

1240 hours (C) B Co reports finding a tree that was 80 inches in diameter following markings at grid 754909 5 feet up the tree was a blaze 12 inches long 4 inches wide and 2 inches thick, on the blaze was the letter A but the left leg was not completed and there was a dot where the left leg should have been with a vertical line under the dot sign was old but they are not sure how old they also found a bridge at grid 757910 in good shape and they will blow it up when they leave the area in 1 of 2 days the road in the same area was very well graded and indicates ton trucks or their equivalent used the road the markings show that all movement went to the west there were no indications of recent use.

1741 hours (C) First PZ fro C Co headed for Dak To.

1841 hours (C) From the Bn CO to A & B companies: Prepare a 2 ship LZ at your present location and be prepared for extraction by UH-1 of CH-47 at 0730 hours tomorrow, destination is Dak To.

2300 hours (C) To 3d Bde from the 1/35: Subject is the Daily Situation Report; the 1/35 continued platoon size search and clear operations in the assigned AOs with A, B and D Companies, each company maintained a minimum of two bushmasters nightly, C Co CAd from LZ Mary at 1740 hours 10 March 69 to Dak To in reaction to enemy intelligence reports the remainder of the battalion was alerted to move 11 March 1969, D Company moved overland from their night location to LZ Mary as security for the artillery battery and the TOC, no significant activities have occurred in the area of operations, plans for 11 March 1969; The Battalion is tentatively scheduled to move to Dak To 11 March 1969 and become OPCON to the 2nd Be upon arrival, night locations as are given in the previous entry.
